NALJA Wear

Show your pride in NALJA by wearing a NALJA hat (only $10 each). You can purchase hats at the NALJA show office. Also available are NEW Limousin hats for $12. Hurry before they are all gone!

LIMI-Boosters News

The State Basket Raffle is back. Stop by the hospitality area to buy raffle tickets for the baskets. Be sure to stop by the show office to see the grill set that was donated by Moreno Farms and McKinney Farms, and will be part of the silent auction. Thanks to your past support of the basket raffle, silent auction, split the pot, and membership dues, we are able to award multiple scholarships to deserving students each year. This year's LIMI-Boosters scholarship and grant recipients will be announced during the Banquet on Friday. Want to pay your dues? Want to help with LIMI Boosters? Stop by the display in the hospitality area and sign-up!

Corrections!!

Yesterday's edition of the NALJA Show Times contained a misprint. Eric Birkner and Nathan Hicks announced their candidacy for the position of NALJA President.

Winner Takes 'Em All

Have you purchased your "Winner Takes 'Em All" raffle tickets yet? Consider this.....Iowa plans on providing at least 11 meals for everyone next year in Des Moines. The average family eating at McDonalds for 11 meals would pay about $220. By purchasing a $100 raffle ticket you get 11 home-made meals, the convenience of eating on the fairgrounds, and best of all the opportunity to win 7 bred heifers. Visit the Iowa aisle today to get your raffle tickets! Help support the 2012 National Jr. Limousin Show & Congress.

The photo-contest entries are on display in the hospitality area. See if you can pick the winners, which will be announced during Friday's banquet.

Owned- Females Parade Today

The owned-female show will get underway in the arena at 8 a.m. today. John Rayfield of Raleigh, North Carolina, will select the national champion from among 207 head. Read about his professional accomplishments on page 7 of the souvenir program.

Need a Show Shirt or 2?

Surplus show shirts are for sale in the show office for $10 each. Get yours while supplies last.

You Be the Judge

Registration for the judging contest begins in the arena at 7:00 a.m. tomorrow. There will be novice, junior, intermediate and senior divisions. The contest will begin at 8:00 a.m. in the arena.

An adult contest will also be conducted. It will follow the same rules as the juniors' contest does, and the $10 entry fee will benefit NALJA.

Herdsman Nominations Sought

Each state advisor is asked to nominate a junior exhibitor from her or his state for the Dick O'Brien Memorial Junior Herdsman Award. The award recognizes an exhibitor who does a superior job of caring for animals, interacting with others, meeting the public and demonstrating maturity. Submit those nominations to the show office by 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Concession Stand

The concession stand located outside the show arena will be open for breakfast opening at 7:30 a.m. They will remain open through the show.

Fitting Chute Reminder

As a friendly reminder, chutes are not allowed in the Vance Reed Livestock Center. Please utilize the Glenn McMenimi building for your fitting chutes.
